

Jewell Goss

The Editors' Code of Practice needs a serious overhaul which is well overdue. A complete review, with teeth, to put things right.

The Independent Press Standard Organisation has, for far too long, been complicit. eg. Princess Diana's death and the paparazzi - this could have been avoided and all its implications for the Royal Family.

And more recently, hounded and chased our beloved Prince Harry out of his own country! Disgusting.

The Press must be made accountable and take responsibility. Trial by the press, particularly the tabloids, has no place in our democracy.

They are destroying our country's reputation as a fair and just society. They must do better.